

Healing tissue requires a flawlessly polished mirror surface completely free of microscopic burrs or scratches.
Unintentional lighthouses are a known side effect of proper finishing.