

High ductility allows the alloy to bend under cyclic loading rather than developing brittle micro-fractures. Some structural integrities are simply insulting to the dedicated saboteur