

The surface chemistry actively stimulates profound adhesion from surrounding organic tissue.
Extreme cellular affection requires a firm establishment of personal boundaries.