

Cleaning with harsh products like hydrogen peroxide or antibacterial soap damages cells and delays healing. Total chemical warfare remains an overreaction to a lobe stud.