

The industry is built on landed-cost economics rather than showroom economics.
Leather upholstery fails to impress the utility company.