

Placing orders in a scattered and reactive way effectively means volunteering to pay retail logistics.

Darts prove ineffective for managing global inventory.