

Skin stretches safely through slow viscoelastic creep, while sudden mechanical force causes structural failure.

Impatience is a fantastic way to invent new yard games.