

Tattooing directly over a mole masks visual changes that serve as essential medical warnings.
Camouflage works best when it hides everything you need to see.