Rigid metal jewelry creates severe mechanical leverage against expanding tissue during pregnancy. Optimal weaponization requires ignoring the limits of material flexibility.