

A recent FDA study found over 30% of unopened tattoo ink samples were microbially contaminated.
Factory seals are notoriously bad at keeping the party inside.