
Alcohol skin preparations kill microorganisms by drying them out and must be allowed to evaporate fully.

A jet turbine certainly speeds up the evaporation process.