

Hand hygiene requires vigorous friction applied to all surfaces to effectively dislodge microorganisms.
A peaceful soak achieves absolute tranquility and a complete lack of cleanliness.