

Manual scrubbing removes visible debris but leaves protein films hidden deep inside instrument hinges.
The surviving microbes are very grateful for the gentle massage.