

Cartilage piercings heal through diffusion because the tissue lacks blood vessels.

Waiting is the hardest part of the investigation.