

During my 18 months there, I never put those robotic arms into production.
They turned out to be terribly lazy coworkers anyway