

Tattoo ink relies on liquid carrier fluid to keep solid pigment particles evenly distributed and prevent clumping.
Unmixed pigment functioned perfectly as heavy masonry.