

Standard tattoo pigments produce colour by absorbing specific wavelengths and reflecting visible light. Tiny mirrors do heavy lifting.