

Direct ultraviolet light exposure breaks down ink molecules and triggers photoallergic reactions in compromised barriers.
The giant ball of burning plasma in the sky demands respect.