

Touching the area with unwashed hands introduces aggressive bacteria directly into the open wound.
The microscopic invaders quickly sense a tactical weakness.