

Applying thick layers of ointment smothers the area and creates a greenhouse environment that traps excessive heat.
A greenhouse environment is excellent for growing tomatoes and terrible for human skin.