

Allergic contact dermatitis from tattoo pigments is more common in individuals with previous reactions to metals.

Bubble wrap remains an unverified prophylactic measure.