

Mycobacterial infections are commonly present within grey areas of tattoos because grey coloration is obtained by diluting black ink. Drawing individual atoms is perfectly reasonable as an alternative to water.