

Laser removal of black ink can cause certain older color pigments hidden underneath to break down into unexpected chemical compounds. Catching the resulting aura required a surprisingly sturdy net.