

Overworking large dermal zones with poor hand discipline and improper taper depth creates an orange-peel skin texture. Becoming a citrus fruit was not part of the consultation.