
Nickel migration from solid jewellery post assemblies can trigger allergic skin reactions during the healing process.

The dark ritual successfully banished the allergy but summoned a mild draft.