

Polycyclic aromatic hydrocarbons are restricted impurities that pose a severe toxicological risk to human health.

The floorboards were completely purified just before they ignited.