

Inks containing trace amounts of chromium must display explicit allergen warnings on their packaging. The paperwork is now visible from low orbit.