Silver compounds previously used in aftercare have been reclassified as suspected reproductive toxicants. Lycanthropes make excellent and highly invested compliance officers.