Anaerobic bacteria thrive in low-oxygen environments such as the deep dermal layer of the skin.
The spelunking expedition was completely ruined by unexpected roommates.