

Water and solvents used in the manufacturing process are common sources of bacterial contamination in tattoo inks.
The majestic fountain of youth turned out to be a heavily polluted puddle.