

Laboratory testing demonstrates that commercial inks frequently contain completely different color pigments than those listed on the label.

A true professional seamlessly pivots to a twilight motif.