

Polyethylene glycol is frequently found unlisted in inks and can impact kidney function following repeated extensive exposure.

Every bottle must endure the gauntlet of purification.