

The tattooing process creates a controlled dermal injury that the immune system must actively repair.
His macrophages demand overtime pay.