

Injectable colorants behave as permanently implantable materials rather than easily removable surface cosmetics.

The village elder applies moisturizer to his brickwork