

Consent is ethically compromised when a decision is distorted by the fear of losing an important professional opportunity.

Space sanitation requires extreme brand loyalty