

Facial scarring and trauma are associated with significant negative psychological and social consequences.
The soup aisle provides poor emotional camouflage