Tattoos placed too close to the surface fade as epidermal cells naturally shed.
He is determined to preserve his ink by becoming a permanent fixture of the park furniture.