

Specific piercings require a prominent anatomical ridge, and attempting them on flat anatomy guarantees rejection.

Architecture rarely cooperates with interior design