

Soft tissue oral piercings undergo massive swelling and require a much higher initial buffer than other anatomical sites.

Justice is best served with ample heal room.