

Applying mechanical pressure by sleeping on a fresh piercing creates constant tension that forces the jewelry out of alignment.

The greatest battles are fought at bedtime.