Manufacturing without strict environmental controls leads to microbial contamination even inside factory-sealed bottles.
The freshest ink sometimes comes with its own backing band.