
Skin thickness varies by anatomical location by up to 2.5×.
Heavy excavation machinery is rarely required for a shoulder piece.