

Halving the apex radius reduces penetration force by approximately 60%. Physics tends to overreact to minor adjustments.