

Wireless battery packs cannot withstand steam sterilization and must be wrapped in disposable barrier film.

The ritual of the melting plastic yields only sorrow.