

Prolonged static postures and repetitive movements cause chronic musculoskeletal discomfort in artists.
Human pretzel contortion is not recognized as professional technique.