

Medical-grade disinfectants require a sustained wet contact time to effectively neutralize resilient bloodborne pathogens.
A watched puddle of sanitiser never evaporates.