

68% of clients feel anxious if they don't see their artist open fresh, blister-packed needles in their direct line of sight. Pyrotechnics and theatrical velvet curtains are best saved for the actual artwork.