

Submerging a fresh tattoo in pools or lakes exposes the open wound to aggressive waterborne bacteria.

Walking on water is a perfectly reasonable alternative to ruining fresh ink.