

Harsh chemicals like alcohol and hydrogen peroxide destroy the new cells trying to close the wound. If a liquid strips paint from a car, it has no business near an earlobe.