

Picking at the crust that forms over a new tattoo pulls the ink pigment out of the dermis before it can settle.

Achieving true enlightenment means ignoring an itch.